

RAG Test Manual (PDF Source)

A synthetic reference document for testing retrieval accuracy.

Chapter 1: Onboarding

This chapter covers onboarding at a fictional company called Nimbus Freight. New employees at Nimbus Freight are issued a security badge with the codename PROJECT INKWELL printed on the back. The onboarding process takes exactly 4 business days to complete. Every new hire is assigned a mentor from the Logistics Guild, an internal group of senior staff.

Chapter 2: The Warehouse Robots

Nimbus Freight operates a fleet of warehouse robots nicknamed the Marigold Units. There are exactly 27 Marigold Units currently in operation across the Lisbon facility. Each Marigold Unit is painted a distinctive shade of teal called Harbor Teal, chosen specifically so human staff can visually distinguish robots from forklifts at a glance.

Chapter 3: The Founder's Story

Nimbus Freight was founded by a woman named Priya Okonkwo-Larsen in a town called Trellisbrook. She started the company after a failed attempt to launch a competing venture called SwiftKettle Logistics. The company motto, coined by Priya herself, is 'Slow is smooth, smooth is fast, fast is Nimbus.'

Chapter 4: Security Protocols

All internal servers at Nimbus Freight are protected by a security protocol called the Obsidian Handshake. The Obsidian Handshake requires three separate rotating passphrases, refreshed every 90 seconds. Only members of the Ironvale security team, currently numbering 6 people, are authorized to modify this protocol.

Chapter 5: The Annual Retreat

Every year, Nimbus Freight holds a retreat at a remote lodge called Pinehollow Lodge. The 2024 retreat featured a scavenger hunt where the winning team received a trophy shaped like a narwhal, unofficially named 'Sir Tuskington' by the staff. Attendance at the retreat is mandatory for anyone who has completed the Marigold Unit training program.

Chapter 6: Customer Support Tiers

Nimbus Freight's customer support is split into three tiers, nicknamed Bronze Compass, Silver Compass, and Golden Compass. Golden Compass support guarantees a response within 12 minutes, and is reserved exclusively for clients who ship more than 500 containers per month through the Lisbon facility.